

itv 1 | Safari Vet School

Check out the Safari Vet School on ITVI from Friday 6 January 2012 - Friday 30 March @ 20:00 shot on location at Amakhala Game Reserve!

32 straight A vet students - from the cream of UK universities - are at one of the toughest vet schools in the world. The students are at Amakhala Game Reserve in the Eastern Cape of South Africa, to learn valuable wildlife skills. Under the guiding hand of Chief Vet, Dr Will Fowlds, the students will tackle everything from lions to rhinos to giraffes and elephants. For some it's the first time they've seen these exotic beasts and for all of them it's the first time they've had to treat wild animals. From the classroom to the bush is a physical as well as an emotional journey as they face fear, danger and drama and are challenged beyond anything they have experienced before.

Presented by vet, Steve Leonard, he acts as guide and mentor as students cope with the tears and terror of being a wildlife vet.

Watch as these UK vet school students step up to the life and death challenges of being a wildlife vet. Pinning down animals barely under sedation with claws and teeth that could rip them to shreds, welcome to one of the toughest vet schools in the world.

For further info go to www.safarivetshcool.com

Amakhala
GAME RESERVE